PetroEdge is pleased to announce the continuation of our collaboration with the Fugro Robertson Training Centre

ABOUT FUGRO ROBERTSON TRAINING CENTRE, UK

Fugro Robertson's technical experience, in projects ranging from regional and basin scale studies to prospect and field evaluations, has been gained in practically every hydrocarbon province in the world - the basis of a reputation trusted by a portfolio of clients, including international oil companies, national oil companies, government institutions and international finance agencies.

The Fugro Robertson Training Centre was established in 1990 to provide a comprehensive range of upstream training programmes for the international petroleum industry. With a portfolio of over 40 courses, training has been given to personnel from over 120 companies and delivered in more than 40 countries.

The Centre has now gained a reputation for the quality of its product. Fugro Robertson is unique in the oil and gas training field in that by using our in-house experts, we can design and present training programmes of any length in virtually any global location.
